

American League Batting Averages--at Nelson in the Capital

First Votes Are Cast In Herald's Contest

Start of the World's Series Baseball Race Floods Contest Editor with Ballots and Nominations--Harry Fiddesop First Nominee.

It was not very long after The Washington Herald, containing an announcement of another world's series baseball contest for Herald readers, appeared on the streets yesterday that nominations began to pour into the baseball contest editor. The first nominee was Harry Fiddesop, of 307 I street northwest. He was nominated by "Bill" McCarthy. Next came "Billy" Neulands, of 719 Eighth street southeast, and the third entry was A. E. Tate, of the Southern Railway force. The start of the contest gives promise of a most interesting race.

Four weeks will be required to decide who the ten lucky winners will be. The winners will see the first two games in each city contesting for the world's championship honors. They will be guests of The Washington Herald

LOCAL BOY MAKES GOOD IN ATLANTA

D. Austin Howard, of Washington, former Western High School star and Cornell University third baseman, has been playing great ball for the Atlanta club of the Southern League.

Percy Whiting, of the Atlanta Georgian, says of Howard:

One of the stars of the Atlanta club is D. Austin Howard, for four years third baseman on the Cornell University base-

AUSTIN HOWARD.

BAT NELSON PAYS CAPITAL A VISIT

Scraper Is Planning to Come Back Strong.

IS IN THE BEST OF HEALTH

Open-air Living in Oregon and New Mexico Works Wonderful Change--Has the Old Snap and Vigor that Made Him Famous. First Fight with Young Nixon.

Battling Nelson, looking just as healthy and strong as when he knocked out Joe Gans for the world's light-weight championship, arrived in Washington yesterday morning on personal business and left last night for Boston, where he is booked for three fights in his now famous "come-back" campaign.

Nelson's appearance yesterday showed the effects of the long months he has spent in the open air of Oregon and New Mexico. The great Dane was red and tanned. His cheeks were the healthiest hue they have ever shown since he has been familiar to Washington boxing fans. He looks ten pounds heavier than he did when appearing here in the theaters, and he also walks with the springy, jaunty step which was missing when in Washington before.

Nelson was confident of his ability to still give the best light-weights in the ring a tussle. In fact, it would not be the gamster from Hegewald if he were not confident. He has mapped out a hard campaign, and is showing the fighting fans his sincerity by not picking off the easy ones for his try-outs.

Nelson's first fight will be in Boston on September 19, when he tackles Young Nixon, one of the best of the New England crop of light-weights. Two weeks after meeting Nixon he is matched with Young Saylor, the sensation in Milwaukee. He is in the apollo. After the Saylor fight he will take a few days' lay-off and then prepare for his battle with Marty Baldwin, one of the hardest fighters in the ring, and a recent victor over Willie Ritchie in California.

But living in the open. Nelson has adopted out-of-door living entirely. He has a tent fitted with electric lights, running water, and all the comforts of a home. This tent will be pitched near his training quarters in Boston, and Nelson will live in it exclusively. At night he opens up the flaps and practically sleeps in the open air. All his meals are served at the open end, and he has engaged his own private chef in Boston.

Nelson does not give McFarland a chance to defeat Wolgast when the pair meet in Milwaukee. He is of the opinion that the low weight will hurt Wolgast, but still believes Wolgast can defeat the Chicago fighter at almost any weight.

Dane himself couldn't whip either of those chaps," he added.

But witnessed the Hack-Gotch wrestling fiasco in Chicago on Labor Day, and asserts that Gotch would have thrown Hack under any and all conditions.

"It's the same fellow who wins," soliloquized the Dane. "I won lots of my fights by being gamer than the other man, and gameness is one of Gotch's great qualities. He simply had Hack beaten four weeks before they entered the ring."

WIN SWIMMING HONORS.

Capital Athletes Capture Prizes in Special to The Washington Herald.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 9.--Despite the inclement weather a large group of spectators witnessed the outdoor swimming South Atlantic Association championships today at Dundalk. W. L. Crane, of the Washington Y. M. C. A., distinguished himself as a long distance swimmer in both the mile and half mile races.

In both of these races Crane, who won, was handily outdistanced by J. G. Johnson, of the Maryland Athletic Club.

The 400-yard dash was won by W. H. Baughner, of the Baltimore Athletic Club. In this race Baughner swam neck and neck with Carrick, of the Washington Y. M. C. A., winning only by a few inches.

E. B. Analey, of the Washington Y. M. C. A., received the cheers of the crowd in his fancy diving, especially on his optional, the cork-screw, come-back, and hand stand. He took every dive in perfect form.

Another close race was the 100-yard dash, won by E. J. Wells, Jr., of the Dolphin Swimming Club of Washington and was closely followed by A. Gorman, of the Washington Y. M. C. A.
